Good Humanitarian Donorship in Europe: Issues and options

Joanna Macrae
Humanitarian Policy Group
Informal HAC, Dublin
26th March 2004
Overview

- Official donors as humanitarian actors
- Good humanitarian donorship
- European humanitarian donorship
From chequebooks to actors: the evolution of official humanitarian donorship

- Donors as chequebooks
From chequebooks to actors: the evolution of official humanitarian donorship

- Donors as chequebooks
  - Small, specialist departments
  - Light procedures
  - Low spending
  - Limited range of partners, including national governments
A new context
- Persistence of conflict related crises
- Governments part of the problem
- New culture of interventionism
- Donor governments as belligerents